

Lesson 3- Wednesday 3rd March

Today, you will be finishing off your blurb from yesterday and publishing it! Use the template on the next page (or make your own very easily by folding a sheet of A4 paper in half and drawing lines on one side) to create your front and back cover to The Tear Thief!

For the blurb

Remember all the things you need for your blurb:

- At least one exclamation mark at the end of an exciting sentence!
- At least one question to entice your reader to open the book.
- An ellipsis to make your reader want to find out more...
- Lots of interesting, exciting adjectives and adverbs.

For the front cover illustration

This is where we want you to become really creative. Think about what is in the book. Perhaps your illustration might focus on the moon, or the sack of jewel tears or something else that tells us a little about the story.

Make it colourful, neat, tidy and use interesting writing to write the title and the author (we can pretend that's you for this task).

We need:

- The title of the book.
- A large illustration filling the space!
- The author's name.
